Walk to Top Withens

Start your walk to Top Withens in Stanbury, for a 4.5-mile walk which takes you across the famous Brontë moors. The route passes a number of locations with Brontë connections, including Penistone Crag – thought to have been a favourite haunt of the Brontës, and described by Emily Brontë in Wuthering Heights as the meeting place of Cathy and Heathcliff, and Ponden Hall, renamed by Emily as Thrushcross Grange.

The ruined farmhouse Top Withens is one of the most iconic locations in Brontë Country. Situated on top of the windswept moorland, it is said to have been the inspiration for the Earnshaw family house in Wuthering Heights.

This walk is suitable for most reasonably fit occasional walkers, and is best enjoyed as a full day's activity. Dress for the outdoors, including comfortable boots, take a map and don't forget your packed lunch!

Haworth and Keighley are 3.5 miles apart and are connected by a regular bus service, Brontë Bus B1, B2, B3. You can check timetables in advance, online at:

Entertainment & Arts

Bradford UK City of Culture 2025 is a treasure trove waiting to be explored, with Haworth and Keighley offering a variety of opportunities to enjoy the arts and entertainment. For art enthusiasts, the Hawksbys and Wuthering Arts galleries on Haworth Main Street are a must-visit. These galleries showcase a diverse range of beautiful works of art, from contemporary pieces to traditional masterpieces. Immerse yourself in the vibrant art world and discover the talents of Yorkshire artists.

Discover a haven for unique handmade treasures in the Old Brontë School Room. This lovely venue regularly hosts craft fairs where local artisans present unique creations. From intricate jewellery to beautifully crafted ceramics, there is something for everyone to admire and purchase.

If you are adventurous, climb aboard a beautiful steam train and embark on an exciting adventure through breathtaking Brontë Country scenery.

The Keighley and Worth Valley Railway is the centre of the fun. This historic railway line hosts popular festivals throughout the year, including the Beer and Music Festival and Steam Gala.

Literature enthusiasts should not miss the opportunity to visit the Brontë Parsonage. This iconic museum is the former home of the famous Brontë sisters and offers a fascinating insight into their lives and works. Interesting talks and exhibitions are held often, allowing visitors to delve into the world of the Brontë family and gain a greater appreciation for their literary contributions.

In the heart of Keighley, experience the vibrant music and club scene at The Exchange, or take great delight in a selection of films at The Picture House independent cinema. The Keighley Playhouse Theatre is another must-visit with music and theatrical performances. Brontë Country guarantees an entertaining and inspiring experience for every visitor.

Brontë Parsonage Museum

Set between the unique village of Haworth, and the wild moorland beyond, this elegant Georgian house was home to Charlotte, Emily and Anne Brontë from 1820 to 1861.

The house still retains the atmosphere of the Brontës' time with the rooms they once used, filled with their furniture, clothes and personal possessions.

Top Withens

Top Withens is a ruined farmhouse near Haworth, which is said to have been the inspiration for Wuthering Heights, the novel by Emily Brontë. The ruin lies on the Pennine Way and is a popular walking destination from Haworth and Stanbury. Such is the attraction to Japanese literary tourists that some footpath signs in the area include directions in Japanese.

The Great Outdoors

The rugged and beautiful Pennine countryside is just waiting to be explored whether you walk, cycle or ride. There are a number of walks starting from Haworth and the surrounding Brontë Country villages.

You can take your time to explore the network of quiet country roads and paths, windswept moors and peaceful woodland which make Brontë Country one of West Yorkshire's most special places to walk.

A short walk from Haworth will bring you to Penistone Hill Country Park, which is situated on the edge of the heather moorlands. From Penistone Hill it is a four mile round trip to the Brontë Waterfalls, which are located close to the village of Stanbury.

It is believed the Brontë sisters used to visit the waterfalls for inspiration and close by there is a small stone bridge, Brontë Bridge, and a chair shaped rock where Emily Brontë is believed to have sat whilst gathering ideas for her books and poems. Continue walking for another mile, and you will arrive at Top Withens, one of the most iconic locations within Brontë Country.

The Brontë Way is a waymarked trail which links the key locations associated with the Brontë family. The full trail is approximately 40 miles and takes you from Oakwell Hall in Birstall across to Gawthorpe Hall in Lancashire, visiting on the way the wild moorland and the village of Haworth.

Heading out on two wheels is a great way to explore. Road cyclists can ride a section of the Tour de Yorkshire. The route passed through large areas of Bradford district including the iconic steep incline of the cobbled Main Street, right in the centre of Haworth.

The natural beauty of the area can easily be enjoyed from the historic Hewenden & Cullingworth Viaducts along The Great Northern Trail on route 69. This route allows you to explore the landscape of Brontë heritage.

For a more relaxed excursion, explore the network of farm lanes and quiet country roads around Haworth and the neighbouring villages of Oakworth, Oxenhope and Stanbury.
